Transferring Objectives to Employee

NOTE: If the supervisor would like the employee to do any work on the objectives, ownership of the Objectives form must be transferred back to the employee.

If work is complete, then the supervisor can indicate in the notification message that the Objectives have been approved.

The employee will retain ownership of the Objectives form and can enter updates as progress is made.

During the performance year, ownership of the Objectives form can be passed back and forth as needed.

1. Click the “Share with Employee” button.
2. Check the “Update Appraisal” box in the Employee Permissions block by clicking on it.
3. NOTE: If this is not completed, then the employee will not be able to update the objectives.

5. Enter a note in the “Notification Message to Employee” box as to why you are transferring the Objectives back to the employee.
